GILDING THE GREYHOUND™ INTRODUCES LUNIDUDS™ HIGHLY REFLECTIVE SAFETY WEAR FOR YOUR CANINE FRIENDS

The dogs to the right are wearing Gilding the Greyhound LuniDuds™ reflective Safety Vests. Brody, the mixed-breed, is across a suburban street from a vehicle parked in a driveway with headlights on. You can see how highly reflective these vests are, even when he is not directly in front of the vehicle. A driver can see Brody coming even before she sees that it is a dog. The greyhound is wearing a LuniDuds™ reflective Safety Vest in a home with a standard flash camera - there is virtually no difference in reflectivity with close-up camera photo and the reflectivity 25 to 40 feet away in a vehicle's headlights.

Rather than mere strips of reflective tape, the LuniDuds™ vests and coats provide a large mass of reflectivity while the vests allow the driver to see the moving dog long before it is in direct line of the headlights.

Gilding the Greyhound has been fortunate to obtain this highly reflective nylon supplex® reflective fabric - at present in very limited supply. This fabric is water repellant in light rain so when made into a full coat is suitable for rainwear as well as for a means for drivers to see your dog.

The reflectivity is achieved using space age technology. Don't miss this opportunity to become acquainted with this terrific new fabric and how Gilding the Greyhound™ uses it for its new and exclusive designs.
